

FLEEING SUSPECT A MAN SLEW AS PHOENIX OFFICERS IN EXTORTION PLOT

ROOSEVELT TO GIVE MARCHING ORDERS TO SOLONS TODAY

Fate of Tentative Plan to Adjourn June 9 Will Be Decided by Wind-Up Program To Be Outlined by President.

SENATE WILL VOTE ON TARIFF TODAY

House Ready To Speed Through Remaining Bills But Senate Debate May Cause Delay.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(AP)—President Roosevelt will tell democratic leaders tomorrow just how much more administration legislation he wants before congress adjourns.

On the wind-up program outlined by the president will depend the end of the session. June 9 is the adjournment goal.

Democratic chiefs will confer with the chief executive shortly after he returns to the White House tomorrow morning from his five-day eastern trip which included a review of the fleet off New York.

The situation, as boiled down by administration leaders, is that congress can adjourn next Saturday night if the president does not insist upon passage of the Wagner housing and oil control bills.

With a vote in the senate on the reciprocal tariff bill and house passage under drastic procedure of the billion-dollar relief supply measure assured tomorrow, the democrats say they can complete the session by banking and other prime legislation by the week-end.

Resolution Waits.
Upon the president's wishes will depend the proposed introduction tomorrow by Representative Byrnes, of Tennessee, house party floor leader, of an adjournment resolution.

However, with later troubles in industrial sections, pressure for the housing legislation and the acute drought situation in midwestern states, adjournment before June 15 may not be possible.

The house—by a gag rule applied to break a republican filibuster—can function swiftly. It can speed through the housing and Wagner labor bills without trouble, but the senate has yet to act on the silver and relief appropriation measures as well as the housing bill.

The $1,175,000,000 deficiency bill, with its potential $6,000,000,000 relief outlay through use of RFC borrowing power, and unneeded public works money, is certain of house approval tomorrow.

The senate is to vote at 5 p. m. on Continued in Page 2, Column 4.

Man Gets Broken Leg In City Jail Cell Here

A cell at police headquarters is generally assumed to be a fairly safe place for most anyone, but an Atlanta prisoner received a broken leg as he languished in the bastille Sunday.

The man gave the name of H. O. Sharpston, 301 Logan street. He had been arrested for a broken right leg. Fellow prisoners could not explain how the accident occurred.

Sharpston was released, and removed to his home for treatment.

RATTLE OF GUNFIRE SPREADING TERROR IN CUBAN CAPITAL

CUBAN PRESIDENT MAY OFFER TO QUIT

HAVANA, June 3.—(UP)—President Carlos Menéndez may offer his resignation if efforts he has started to effect a political truce fail it was understood tonight.

Associates of the president said tonight he was planning quietly to return to the White House tomorrow morning from his five-day eastern trip which included a review of the fleet off New York.

The situation, as boiled down by administration leaders, is that congress can adjourn next Saturday night if the president does not insist upon passage of the Wagner housing and oil control bills.

FEDERAL TREASURY ASKS 800 MILLION IN NEW FINANCING

Sale of Bonds Will Run Ready Cash Past 2 Billions and Pay Recovery Cost Over Summer.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(UP)—The government tonight called on private investors for $800,000,000 more to finance recovery costs.

That amount of new borrowing was provided in the treasury's long-awaited June financing operations.

The $800,000,000 will boost the treasury's ready cash to $2,010,350,000, placing it in a position to meet mounting recovery and relief expenditures over the summer months.

Expenditures are running about half a billion a month. This cash is aside from the two billions more derived from gold devaluation profits and held in a separate currency stabilization fund.

The new borrowing will carry the federal debt to the highest level in history. Floating the new issues will make a total debt of $2,365,017,448.

The war-time peak and previous high record was $2,596,701,648. President Roosevelt has set $1,834,000,000 as the "outside limit" of the debt to be incurred in completing the recovery program.

Refunding.
Along with the new borrowings, the government offered holders of $500,000,000 in maturing government obligations over the next six weeks the privilege of exchanging them into a new issue of 3 percent 12 to 14-year bonds.

The $800,000,000 will be raised through the sale of $500,000,000 of five-year 2-1/8 percent notes and $300,000,000 of 12 to 14-year 3 percent bonds, similar to those offered for exchange for the maturing obligations. The offering of bonds is the first direct sale of such securities since $755,481,350 of "Mellon 3s" were floated in September, 1931.

No provision is made in the June financing for the 2-1/8 percent $500,000,000 of called Fourth Liberty loan 4-1/4 percent bonds which fall due October 15. Refunding of these securities at a lower interest rate is expected before the maturity date.

The treasury is offering holders of the $174,005,500 of the 1-1/4 percent treasury certificates, due June 15, and the $245,202,600 of 2-1/8 percent treasury notes, due August 1, the privilege of exchanging their securities for the 3 percent bonds.

Small Denominations.
A further bid for the participation of the "small investor" in the cash sale of the 3 percent bonds was seen in the issuance of $50 and $100 denominations where all subscriptions up to $100,000 will be given "preferred allotment." The five-year notes will be issued in denominations of as low as $100 with equal preferred allotment for the small buyers.

The $100,000 will be dated June 15, 1934, with the 3 percent interest payable semi-annually. They will mature June 15, 1948, but may be redeemed on any date after June 15, 1940, on four months' notice. The notes are dated June 15, 1934, and bear interest at the rate of 2-1/8 percent, payable semi-annually. Both issues are being sold at par.

Jaundice Attacks Quintuplets And Doctor Bars Trip to Fair

Physician Says Affliction Is Not Alarming, But Precludes Possibility of Moving Brood.

CORBELL, Ont., June 3.—(AP)—The Dionne quintuplets over night became afflicted with jaundice, and Dr. A. R. Dafoe stated that they must not be exhibited at Chicago's Century of Progress exposition this summer.

The five little girls, clinging to life with a tenacity that surprises physicians, today were tinged with yellow.

Dr. Dafoe, the country practitioner who attended their birth, hastily prescribed treatment to overcome this condition. The new state of affairs is not alarming, the physician said. Jaundice is not unusual in infants a week old, he added, and he does not believe the complication lessens the children's chance for life.

In other respects the condition of the children, including little Marie, who weighs one pound, 12 ounces, is unchanged. Dr. Dafoe said after a visit to the farm home of the Dionnes.

But taking the children to the Century of Progress, or anywhere outside of Ontario, would be extremely unwise and he will not consent to it, Dr. Dafoe said. His determination in this respect will prevent a showing of the infants at the Chicago exposition, it is believed, because the children's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ovide Dionne, are accepting the physician's advice.

A contract with Chicago promoters, which Dionne signed, provides the babies may not be moved without the doctor's consent, under provisions of the agreement, with which Dionne is now reported to be dissatisfied, he is to get $100 a week until mother and children are able to go to Chicago. He said that the contract specified, the pay was to be $250 a week and 30 percent of receipts.

It was said that Dionne now believes he could have obtained better terms.

The bodies of Mrs. Payne and her son, were found in the home in an exclusive Los Angeles residential section earlier today. Police shortly after the discovery broadcast a request for the detention of Louis, another son of Mrs. Payne.

The officers declared the telegram in his pocket was addressed to L. E. Payne, his father, in St. Louis, and said he had killed his mother and brother and was going to give himself up.

The youth was removed to Los Angeles for further questioning by officers there.

The message as announced by the officers said: "Dear Dad: I have killed mother and Bob. Am going to turn myself over to police, Louis."

They said he had in his possession a letter addressed to his father, which they had not opened, pending a conference with the Los Angeles officers.

Louis said he could not remember where he had been since he left their Westwood Hills home, he had traveled. He declared he had been in Huntington Beach but two hours before he surrendered.

The bodies of the mother and son, they were not overlooking the fact, they had fought his attacker, as the walls were splattered with blood.

Police said that although they sought Louis Payne for questioning, robbery may have been the motive for the double slaying. Several purses in the bedrooms of the slain persons had been emptied and no money could be found.

Dr. Fisher, who examined the bodies, also advanced the theory that Mrs. Payne may have been attacked.

Long Dead.
The two victims seemingly had been dead several days. A bloodstained hatchet was found beneath their bed.

"I can't understand it," Dr. Fisher said. "The family apparently had no enemies and the two boys appeared to be very devoted to their mother."

Dr. Fisher said he had treated Louis Payne for injuries he suffered in a St. Louis automobile accident a year ago. He understood a young woman was killed in the accident.

Louis formerly was a student at a military academy. The younger brother was a student at the Beverly Hills High school.

MOTHER AND BOY HACKED TO DEATH, SON SURRENDERS

Telegram to Father Is Found in Youth's Pocket, Confesses He Slew Two, Planned to Give Up

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Cal., June 3.—(AP)—Louis Payne, 21, son and brother, respectively, of Mrs. Carrie Payne, 45, and Robert Payne, 15, who were found hacked to death with a hatchet in their Westwood Hills mansion, surrendered to police here tonight.

In his pocket, officers said they found an unsent telegram to his father, the St. Louis, in which he said he killed his mother and brother.

Nuns Plan 'Black Fast' If Drouth Grip Holds

ST. JOSEPH, Minn., June 3.—(AP)—Nuns of St. Benedict's convent will embrace the "black fast" unless rain falls by next Tuesday to break the drought which has gripped the north central states.

The "black fast," first decreed by Pope Gregory I, in 590 as penance to cause disappearance of the black plague, permits but one meal in 24 hours, food being limited to one gill of water and one ounce of bread.

INTENDED VICTIM SERVES AS DECOY FOR DEATH TRAP

Wealthy Merchant Delivers Package of Money to Man, Steps Back Out of Range of Bristling Arms Behind Shrubbiness.

PHOENIX, Ariz., June 3.—(AP)—A martyr to law enforcement, Robert Perkins, 28, was slain here today as police and federal agents trapped and killed another man who said sought to flee with $3,500 he had extorted from I. Diamond, wealthy department store owner.

Perkins was hit by a stray bullet as he slept on a porch of his home. The other man, Louis Walsh, 30, was killed as he tried to flee with the money.

Walsh unwittingly walked into a trap set by officers. Rifles, revolvers and riot guns roared from ambush. He died in the withering fire, his body mutilated by heavy slugs at close range.

Perkins groaned as the leaden pellets sang through the startled neighborhood. His parents, awakened by the fusillade, found him lying in his own blood. He died in an hour.

Joseph E. P. Dunn, of the division of investigation, department of justice, described Perkins as "a martyr to the law's campaign against kidnapers and extortionists."

The money the extortionist flung from him just before the gunfire cut him down, slightly, was found in the Perkins' yard. But young Perkins knew nothing of it. He was asleep when the money-baited trap was sprung, and never awoke.

The first extortion letter was sent to Diamond last Monday. It was noticed, it lay about the house through Monday and Tuesday, and was not opened and read until Wednesday morning.

It threatened death or bodily harm to Diamond and members of his family if $3,500 in "unmarked money" was not delivered to the "Black Three" at Second street and Roosevelt.

Diamond conferred with his attorney and with John J. McGrath, chief of detectives, and Earl A. Patterson, Phoenix chief of police.

Dunn assigned agents to the case. Throughout the remainder of the week investigators missed the extortionist.

Poland Will Not Pay June Debt Installment

WARSAW, June 3.—(AP)—A government spokesman indicated today that Poland will not make the war debt payment to the United States on June 16, holding that the reasons which prevented payment on December 16, 1932, still prevail.

It was pointed out that the United States has not yet replied to a Polish proposal for arbitrating the matter of war debts.

The press of Warsaw which reported that Poland had refused to pay, had not been received by the Polish government was reserved in commenting on the situation.

Since defaulting in 1932, Poland has made no payments, either in full or in token.

ROBERT SELPH HENRY TO SPEAK HERE TODAY

Robert Selph Henry, assistant to the vice president of the N. C. & St. L. railway, at Nashville, and widely known as a writer, will be the principal speaker at noon today at a luncheon of the Atlanta Traffic Club at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

While known as an outstanding railroad officer throughout the southeast, Mr. Henry is also nationally known as the author of the "Story of the Confederacy." His most recent book is entitled "Trains." Both volumes are recognized by libraries and schools as textbooks of accuracy in historical data and as reference books.

38 WILL GET DIPLOMAS FROM EVENING SCHOOL

Vera C. Martin, Atlanta Girl, Is Honor Student;
Given Scholarship.

Degrees will be awarded to 38 members of the senior class of the University System of Georgia Evening School. Some will receive their degrees at Georgia Tech, some at the University of Georgia, in Athens, and others at the Georgia State College for Women at Milledgeville. Commencement exercises for the school opened Sunday morning with the baccalaureate sermon delivered by Dr. Louis D. Newton at Druid Hills Baptist church. The class, with 40 faculty members, entered the church in academic procession with Chancellor Philip Welner and Dr. George M. Sparks, director of the school, at the head.

This school was formerly the Evening School of Georgia Tech, changed to the University System during the past year by the board of regents. This year is the first commencement held separate from Tech, rendered necessary because graduates now get their degrees, not only from Tech, but from both the University of Georgia and Georgia State College for Women as well.

Honor pupil of the graduating class is Vera Catherine Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Kell Martin, of 23 Roanoke avenue and an employee of the Georgia Power Company.

Miss Martin, a graduate of Girls' High school, has achieved a remarkable record during her five-year course at the Evening school. She received an "A" or double "A" for every subject covered during the five years and now holds the degree of bachelor of commercial science. She also is winner of the faculty award of a term scholarship on work toward a master's degree, presented to two members of the senior class for "perfect co-operation during the entire college course."

Howard Bergstrom Johnson, also of Atlanta, is the other winner of this award. Dr. Sparks stated Sunday that, in the opinion of the faculty, both had made equally fine records.

Entering as a freshman in 1929, Miss Martin won the Retail Credit Company's scholarship for making the highest average in her class. She became a member of the "Commerce Club" at that time.

In her sophomore year she won a popularity contest and became "Miss Tech Nite." She also was a member of the Hilarian Club, women's social organization and sponsor of the men's social organization. In her junior year she again was elected the most popular girl of her class, made history of the Hilarian Club, elected vice president of the class and became a member of the Playcrafters' Club.

That same year she won the coveted national scholarship of the Phi Chi Theta Key award, with a scholarship average of 4.585 out of a possible 5.000. She was active in fraternal associations, being one of two members elected to Delta Mu Delta honorary fraternity from the junior class. She later became secretary of this fraternity and also the Phi Chi Theta sorority and was again elected "Miss Evening School" and "Miss Popularity."

During her entire five-year course Miss Martin continued her work with the Georgia Power Company, where she is a highly valued employee.

RICHS VANISHED, MAN OF MYSTERY LANGUISHES IN JAIL

Booked four times within two days on charges of intoxication and able each time to produce cash amounting from $3 to $100, a man giving the name of J. J. Frank, rested on his laurels at police headquarters Sunday with 41 cents as his only visible capital.

The prisoner not only appeared satisfied with his depleted resources, but apparently had decided to retain the name of Frank as the most popular of the group he gave during his sojourn at headquarters.

During his previous three stays of a few hours each the prisoner celebrated by purchasing other prisoners large quantities of cigars, cigarettes and candies. The last time he left headquarters he carried about $100. He was back a few hours later with 41 cents.

FERA TO HAVE SCHOOL FOR NEGRO TEACHERS

For the purpose of training unemployed teachers for service in the field of workers' education, the federal emergency relief administration will conduct a six-week school at Atlanta University starting June 9 and continuing until July 20. President John Hope announced Saturday following receipt of official authorization from Washington, D. C. Thirty persons, including both men and women, will be enrolled in the school. The project will be directed by a representative of the Brookings Institution of Washington, D. C., who will be assisted by members of the faculty of Atlanta University summer school and by specialists in the field of workers' education.

The purpose of the school is to give specialized training to a select group of colored men and women, who by reason of their educational background and interest in economics and social problems are fitted to teach in the workers' schools that are being established throughout the country. The school at Atlanta University will be the first training unit to be set up and the only one in the country exclusively for negroes.

FAIRBURN MAN DIES IN FULTON JAIL CELL

William A. Collins, about 48 years of age, a resident of Fairburn, died in Fulton Tower sometime Saturday night.

The deceased had recently been committed to the towers because of a mental disorder. Attendants found him dead Sunday morning.

The body was taken to Fairburn early Sunday for funeral services which will be conducted there at 11 o'clock today, with burial in the Bethlehem churchyard.

MIDGET 'FAT LADY' DIES OF HEART DISEASE

CHICAGO, June 3.—(AP)—Miss Jolly Bonita Gibbons, 68 years old, a resident of the World Fair midget village, died yesterday of heart disease. The "fat lady" of the village, Miss Gibbons was 48 inches tall and weighed 220 pounds. She had spent many years traveling with circuses and carnivals.

SOCIALISTS TAKE ANTI-WAR STAND

DETROIT, June 3.—(AP)—Taking a bold specific stand, comparable to the anti-war declaration of the St. Louis convention in 1916, the socialist party today swung far to the left and voted to resist war by all available means and to set up a proletarian rule if the "capitalist system should collapse in general chaos and confusion."

Following the aggressive leadership of Norman Thomas and Mayor Daniel W. Hoan, of Milwaukee, in the most tumultuous session of the party's biennial convention, the coalition of centrists, lefts and extremists—which has constantly demonstrated its power in the bitter fights of the last three days—routed the "old guard" of the right wing in this declaration of principle by a vote of 90 to 47.

It was the second decisive defeat of the day for the right. Only one member of the "old guard"—the faction dominated for many years by the late Morris Hillquit and which has aimed its thrust in this convention at the national leadership of Thomas, was elected to the national executive committee.

Few conventions in the history of the party witnessed a more bitter session than the closing one today, which adopted the revolutionary declaration of principle which says in part:

"The socialists will meet war and the detailed plans for war already mapped out by the warring arms of the government by massed war resistance, organized so far as practicable in a general strike of labor unions and professional groups in a united effort to make the waging of war a practical impossibility and to convert the capitalist war crisis into a victory for socialism."

In the discussion of the means to power—signaled by the declaration of Mayor Hoan that "socialism collapsed in Europe because it did not plan how to use power when it got it"—the party statement of principle added:

"If the capitalist system should collapse in a general chaos and confusion, which cannot permit of orderly procedure, the socialist party, whether or not in such a case it is a majority, will not shrink from the responsibility of organizing and maintaining a government rule."

The "old guard" at once circulated a petition for a referendum of the party on this military direct-actionist stand and it looked probable that the matter would be referred to the membership.

G. O. P. COMMITTEE MEETS IN CHICAGO

Selection of New Chairman and Party Rehabilitation Are Objects.

CHICAGO, June 3.—(P)—Preliminary steps to rehabilitate the republican party, following its defeat of 1932, were under discussion today as the national committee gathered for its first meeting in two years.

The meeting will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, June 5 and 6, at the national headquarters, said that 80 or 90 of the 102 members are expected in person, with the remainder voting by proxy.

Getz said it was the hope of the leaders that informal discussions which will be sandwiched in with various social gatherings tomorrow will result in a uniformity of opinion, especially as to the important task of choosing a new chairman, so that the formal session Tuesday will be opened with a set program already arranged.

To Name Chairman. The meeting was called primarily to select a successor to Everett Sanders, of Washington, former Indiana congressman, who has resigned as chairman because of illness.

Appointment of an assistant chairman, to give full time to his job, choice of an executive committee and a renewal of the proposal to move the committee's national headquarters from Washington to Chicago are also possible agenda proposals.

Various suggestions were floating about as to the possible selection for chairman. The man whom the lighting strikes probably will have to lead the party through the presidential campaign of 1936. According to some opinion he must be a westerner or midwesterner. Others assert he must be an outstanding and able figure nationally, to infuse "new blood" into the party. Another group believes he must be fitted to attack the party's main problem of coalescing its various factions into new harmony.

Candidates frequently mentioned in the pre-session gossip were Walter J. Kohler, former governor of Wisconsin, considered to be of the able "businessman" type favored by opponents of the New Deal, and James A. Watson, former senator from Indiana; Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, of New York, former assistant secretary of the navy; Harford MacNider, of Iowa, former national commander of the American Legion; Walter E. Edge, of New Jersey, former senator and former ambassador to France, and Henry P. Fletcher, of Pennsylvania, former ambassador to Italy. Several others seemed to have supporters also.

Two Erlanger Films Fair Entertainment

There are two fairly entertaining pictures at the Erlanger theater this week. Which you prefer probably depends chiefly upon your own predilections.

One, "Found Alive," combines hunting experiences with a dramatic story of plot. You will see dogs and men capturing wildcats, cougars, even a bear. Others catch rattlesnakes in the most nonchalant manner and all told this part of the picture is good of its kind.

Interwoven with the hunting is the story of a woman, divorced, who kidnaps her own son and hides in the jungles of the Rio Grande delta for 10 years. Then the boy grows up and develops a weakness for a savage young man, a native girl. At the end the mother and father are reconciled and you know the danger of young son "going native" is over.

There are excellent shots of animal fights and one desperate struggle between man and cougar. The drawback to the picture is amateurish dialog and weak direction in so far as the plot and the cutting of the film are concerned.

The other feature is "Sing, Sinner Sing," in which Leila Hyams portrays a torch singer from a resort of questionable fame. Paul Lukas is the proprietor and Leila's boy friend. But she elopes with a drink-sodden young millionaire, tries and fails to make a man of him and, when he commits suicide, is tried for his murder. Lukas comes to the rescue by confessing he did the killing, though he knows it was suicide, but is convinced no one will believe that.

Lukas is always good. Hyams is competent and the rest of the cast—especially George Stone—make their roles realistic.

The program also includes an excellent short subject giving views of Chicago and the Century of Progress exposition.

The Erlanger projection equipment, both sight and sound, has a few minor defects that Western Electric ought to remedy, for their own reputation, at any rate. It is, I believe, W. E. equipment. —RALPH T. JONES.

"Let's Be Ritzy" Proves Good Show at Rialto

A good little show is "Let's Be Ritzy," playing at the Rialto. Dealing with New York cliff dwellers, this comedy-melodrama is well-conceived and well-acted.

Lew Ayres, aided and abetted by Frank McHugh in the role of a blustering radio entertainer, gets into a maze of bluffing the bluffers, which brings about some very amusing situations.

Ayres, persuaded by his girl friend to get married on $30 a week, soon finds that it costs a lot more to support two than to support one. The old adage notwithstanding, the rent man comes with a formidable writ, and "Bill," the radio man, spills the untruthful beans that Jimmy Sterling, played by Mr. Ayres, is the son of a rich rubber king.

The landlord forthwith invites the Sterlings to week-end and offers a partnership in his wabbling brokerage firm. Jimmy's nose, who is played by Robert McVade—the perfect grouch—appears upon the scene and undoes the good work of Bill, the radio man.

Patricia Ellis, as Ruth, who started the whole mess by her ambition to keep up with the Joneses, is very fetching.

Although falling short at points where some real drama could have been introduced, the play is an amusing bit, and is a true picture of life among New York's white-collar class. And it all ends nicely when Jimmy, emboldened by his brief season of bluffing, bluffs his way back into his old job as a radio clerk.

Laurel and Hardy appear as a couple of chimney-sweeps. They run into a plentiful supply of bricks for Mr. Hardy's crack in the wall. In the end, Mr. Hardy gets rejuvenated—far beyond his expectations—and appears in the final scene as an anthropoid ape. The thing is quite absurd, but plenty funny.

About Superfluous Hair, Shaving and Liquids for Perspiration

By MIGNON.

Winter is the time when the hands require the most care, but it's very unwise to be careless about them in summer. Your chances of keeping them soft in summer are excellent, but they should be kept from becoming dry in the hot sun, even though they are tanned a deep brown.

I've found a cream that seems to fill the bill exactly. You dip your fingers into the jar, which is wide at the top, dip out a generous helping, rub your hands a few moments until the cream has entirely disappeared. You feel a cooling effect on application and a very healing effect afterward.

I don't know what makes it feel cool unless it is a dash of menthol, but it smells clean, also, without any perfume to conflict with whatever scent you are using. It is not expensive. The jar is not fancy, but it is the most convenient size, and the cream isn't oily enough to cling to your hands and soil your clothes. Most hand creams do rub into the skin and leave a velvet finish, but this one seems to have about everything, including a small price tag.

If you want a delicate fragrance to your hands, you can wash them, then rub them with toilet water, and then dip into the hand cream.

I have used, and I can safely ad-

Superfluous Hair. This superfluous hair problem bothers so many women. I have never recommended depilatories. The reason is that I don't know just how much judgment the woman who uses them will have, and whether or not she will be very careful to leave them on the skin exactly the right length of time, or forget to watch the clock and burn herself. I have used them, and successfully. But that is something that is entirely up to the individual. There are some very good ones on the market. Practically all of them have dreadful odors. But that's one of the trials of being completely depilatory. Which seems well worth this offense.

About Shaving. I have used, and I can safely ad-

ILLINOISAN ROUTS 5 YOUNG BANDITS ON 92D BIRTHDAY

CHICAGO, June 3.—(P)—Simultaneously today George M. Jackson celebrated his ninety-second birthday and single-handed victory over five bandits, many years his juniors.

The bandits drove up to the home of Jackson, pioneer Spring Lake (Ill.) farmer, Saturday when his children were away. Finding the aged man alone, they forced their way in and demanded his savings.

"They're in the bank," Jackson countered. Unbelieving, the bandits ransacked the house.

Jackson remembered his gun. From under a pillow he drew an ancient, large-caliber revolver and poodled the nearest robber.

"This old gun hasn't missed fire since 1869 and it isn't likely to now," he sputtered angrily, "so you all better get out quick!" And the robbers left hastily.

Use one part ammonia and three parts peroxide. This is a strong enough solution to do some good, yet it won't harm you. But don't apply until 24 hours after shaving. Mix enough for only one application at a time. When bottled for some time the mixture forms a gas and might blow out a cork if you don't do it this way.

About Razors. Use a razor which is rounded and is designed for under-arm use. It makes it easier not to have accidents, and the straight ones are a bit trying especially if you are a thin person.

Never apply anything to stop perspiration immediately after shaving, as you are more than likely to have trouble if you do. Don't forget this admonition. Wait till the second day or put it on the night before shaving and then wash well to get off every bit of it before you apply a razor.

These are all little hints, but they make big differences.

Use a good unscented talcum after shaving. I can tell you of a very good one. I will also tell you of a good liquid to apply three times a week to stop excessive perspiration throughout the summer. The bottle has a shaker top to be applied directly to the body. Just the right amount of the liquid oozes through for one application, so there is no waste.

Friendly Counsel By CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

A young school teacher who is engaged to a farmer living many miles from a town would like some suggestions as to how to make her marriage succeed. Her fiancé being an uneducated man but a fine character, she believes that if she can set a proper pace he will follow and they can be happy. Here are some rules for faith and practice for her and all others facing a similar problem:

Don't enter marriage with the thought that it may fail. Don't look back to the old job wondering if, after all, it was better than the present one. Many a woman has lost her life by looking back. Let's wife was not the last one. Eyes turned toward the past can't see the present nor the future.

Don't yield to the temptation to let yourself run down because you live in the country and nobody sees you from one week's end to another. Count a life tends to take its toll of a woman because of the hard work incident to it and because she says to herself at the end of the day, "No body is going to see me, why should I change my dress, do my hair, polish my nails and powder my nose?" But love and beauty have a fatal affinity and no matter how clever a woman may be she cannot keep her romance thriving if she neglects to cultivate the soil in which it was rooted and grown.

Don't yield to that other temptation to relax in your housekeeping, to leave the floors unwept and the furniture undusted and the vases empty or filled with dead flowers. Don't eat your meals at the kitchen table and forget that the dining room is the heart of the home, that meal-time should be a sort of spiritual ritual observed at a table covered with clean linen and set with dainty accessories.

It is the contrasts of life that make it interesting. If there is any man who needs the stimulation and the inspiration of a well-run home it is the farmer. His work is monotonous and unremitting, plowing, harrowing, fertilizing, cultivating, reaping, binding, these are his tasks and they have all to do with live stock and the soil.

Rough work tends to make him despise the niceties of life, to be careless of the daily bath, the clean collar and shirt. The dainty wife in the dainty home will make him toe the mark.

Don't ignore the fact that if living in the country isolates a couple from the companionship of other people the isolated ones will grow stale and bored each other to death unless they find stimulation in reading. Nothing spells more certain death to married happiness than boredom. Out of it grow dissatisfactions that breed quarrels. Anything for excitement, even a fight!

Don't be tempted to make slighting remarks about your husband's ignorance and his mistakes in grammar. Your superior advantages should make you humble rather than arrogant. If he won't read and interest himself in magazines and books, you can do the reading and feed him partly digested ideas just as he furnishes your kitchen with food and wood with which to cook it.

In almost every home it is the woman who sets the standards of living and much more is this true in a home where the woman is educated and the man is not. Because of her superior advantages she should look up to her for, be sure, the person who has a high regard for education is frequently the one who feels the lack of it. And no one feels the lack so keenly as the ignorant one who is thrown intimately with the educated ones.

Cultivate an interest in the problems of the farm. Nothing so takes the heart out of a man as to feel that his wife has no interest in the things that mean most to him, and particularly is this true of the man who has interests necessarily limited. Chickens, cows, horses, mules, crops and occasional trips to town to replenish the larder and market, the produce fill his days. Make these interests yours and he will make yours his.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

RESTLESS WOMEN

BY JANE DIXON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

New York society is surprised when Pierre Reynal dies and leaves his wife, Corinne, and $50,000—a "mere pittance," she calls it. She turns to his wealthy bachelor brother, Basil, who scorns her social aspirations and finally tires of her demands. When Sandra, her youngest daughter, is 18, and they are summering at Sandharbor, Corinne is pressed by tradesmen and prevails upon Sandra to go to her uncle, whose favorite she is. He gives her $25,000 with the understanding that if her mother spends it foolishly Sandra is to come to live with him. The wealthy young Gilbert Akin seems on the point of proposing to Sandra, and does ask her to go with him to the clambake, the finale of the Sandharbor season, but Corinne convinces her that Gil is merely using her so that he can win her sister, cunningly. Val leads Sandra to believe Gil has asked her and Sandra makes a date with Sonny Warren, Gil, charged, then asks Val who, the night of the clambake, leaves the club dance and goes alone with her to a long cruise. When he returns Sandra upbraids him for having put her sister in a position where she is open to criticism. In his clothes with Val and they go to Havana on their honeymoon. Corinne is counting on Val's marriage to bet them out of their financial difficulties, but Sandra applies for a job as chorus girl. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT XIII

"When the cat's on a holiday—" Valerie said stubbornly, leaving her mother to understand she was making the best of a situation. Sandra knew Val had not so much as hinted to her mother a doubt of her marriage with Gilbert Akin. She resolved to tell Val that Gil had returned and fortified Val against Corinne's learning of his presence in town.

"Let Val play, darling," Sandra said as if the matter was of small moment. "No man wants a sit-by-the-fire days. Listen to this. Sonny's having a house party at the Warren estate in Tuxedo for the week-end. Val and I are invited. It's to be quite a bang. I'll get you a job on the death watch, mother, if you like." Sandra, my child. How delightful! I can't tell you how happy you make me. If your sister would only handle her young man as well! We'll have to make a list of the clothes you will take—the very nicest, of course. You must have a new dance frock—" Later, darling. Food now—I'm starved. Run through my wardrobe, will you, like a lamb, and see what you can find.

Mrs. Reynal flurried off to see Sandra's bidding, her rancor against Valerie leavened by the good news Sandra had imparted. Perhaps Sandra was right. She was really the clever one. If only she had Valerie's beauty—with her wit and vivacity. But she seemed to be doing very well. Sonny Warren was! It was almost too good to be true.

When her mother had gone, Sandra said to Valerie, "Gil Akin is back from his cruise!"

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

STRANGE FOLK OF FAR PLACES.

I—Fiji Islanders.

A native chief was speaking, a leader of the Fiji folk, and he was making a present to A. B. Brewster, a British official who had been away from the islands for several months.

The Fijians like to decorate themselves, and for the purpose they use ivory teeth obtained from sperm whales. These teeth are oiled and polished. Sometimes an extremely rich native has enough of them to use for a necklace. With fuzzy, wavy hair crowning his head, and with whale teeth around his neck, he is an interesting sight.

With the coming of the Christian faith, some natives have cut or shaved their hair, and have turned to ways which their ancestors did not know. Large fields are used for the growing of sugar cane, and much of the crop is exported to New Zealand. Fiji men of the hills use bows and arrows. Sometimes an extremely rich native has enough of them to use for a necklace. With fuzzy, wavy hair crowning his head, and with whale teeth around his neck, he is an interesting sight.

The Fijians have become part of the British empire. Only about 2 per cent of those who live there are whites; but the whites own large plantations, and in addition to native labor make use of thousands of workers who were brought from India. Sugar cane is raised for export, along with pineapples and bananas. (For travel section of your scrapbook.)

Mrs. A. McD. Wilson To Preside At Convention in Chattanooga

Mrs. A. McD. Wilson, life president general of the Confederate Southern Memorial Association, leaves Tuesday afternoon for Chattanooga, where she will preside over the thirty-fourth annual convention of that body to be held June 6, 7, 8 jointly with the United Confederate Veterans. The headquarters will be at the Patton hotel and the meetings will be held in the Patton hotel auditorium.

Mrs. Wilson has appointed Mrs. Hal Hentz, daughter of Georgia's governor, as matron of honor for the convention and Mrs. Frank Dennis, of Eatonton, as another.

Misses Margaret Scott and Sarah Jenkins will be her official pages and Miss Margaret Talmadge, daughter of Governor and Mrs. Eugene Talmadge, will be her maid of honor. Mrs. Pauline Brannon and Mrs. Frank Boston, of Marietta, will be chaperons of honor.

Other officers of Mrs. Wilson's staff are Miss Norma Britton, of Washington, D. C., color bearer; Miss Jessica Randolph Smith, of Washington, color bearer for the U. C. V.

The vice president generals are Mrs.

Miss Kunzig Weds Albert B. Sheridan In Bronxville, N. Y.

BRONXVILLE, N. Y., June 3.—Of interest to New York and Georgia society is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Sarah Ewel Kunzig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Kunzig, of Bronxville, to Albert B. Sheridan, of New York, which took place at noon Saturday at the home of the bride in Bronxville.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Miss Ethel Kunzig, who wore a gown of rose crepe, made along graceful lines. Her hat was a wide-brimmed model of navy blue and she wore a shoulder bouquet of orchids.

Miss Phyllis Kunzig, another sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid and wore a dainty pink frock and carried a nosegay of pink roses.

Philip H. Kunzig gave his daughter in marriage and acting as best man was Walter Aldridge, of New York.

The bride's wedding ensemble was of poudre blue crepe, trimmed with navy blue. She wore a wide hat of white orchids and valley lilies.

Immediately following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained at an informal wedding breakfast, after which the couple left for their wedding trip to Bermuda.

Mrs. Sheridan is extremely popular in Atlanta, having made her formal bow to society there with the Debutantes' Club of 1928-29. She is a niece of Mrs. Inman Sanders, Mrs. Thomas B. Paine, Mrs. Edward S. Gay, all of Atlanta, and Mrs. John Somerville, of Philadelphia. Her mother is the former Miss Ethel Gay, of Atlanta.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Sheridan, of New Rochelle, N. Y., and is prominently identified in New York social circles. He is practicing law in New York, where upon their return, he and his bride will make their home.

Popular Visitor and Hostess

Miss Theo Greene Weds Mr. Jenkins At Church Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Theo Greene to James Robert Jenkins took place Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Jackson Hill Baptist church, Dr. R. G. Young, of Newnan, officiated. Miss Clara Maude Harper and Mrs. Clara Belle McEwing presented the musical program.

The church was decorated with palms, foliage plants and ferns which provided a rich, dark green background for the baskets of white gladiolus and Madonna lilies that graced the pulpit and the seven-branched candelabra holding white burning tapers.

Acting as groomsmen were Harold Arwood, Herbert Schutte and Bill Arwood.

The bridesmaids and groomsmen entered in pairs, the former including Miss Helen Jenkins, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Lillian Thigpen and Miss Blanche Woodcock.

The maids wore gowns of Nile-green organically fashioned alike, the bodies of the dresses being close-fitting and intruding a soft neck-line, rounded in front and back. The long, graceful skirts moulded the figure to just below the knees, where the skirts flared.

The maids carried bouquet muffs covered with pink and white sweet peas over a background of green fern spray in the front with pink satin ribbons.

Miss Lucile Jenkins, sister of the bridegroom, the maid of honor, entered alone, wearing a gown like those worn by the bridesmaids and carrying a similar bouquet.

Entering the church with her father, by whom she was given in marriage, the bride wore a striking gown in her white mousseline de soie wedding gown, made along Grecian lines. Her only ornament was a diamond platinum brooch. The long, graceful skirt moulded the figure to just below the knees, where the skirt flared and extended into a long train in the back.

Completing the bridal costume was her veil, fashioned of soft, filmy bridal illusion that extended beyond the end of the train and was held to her dark hair by a cap made of tulle caught on either side by small sprays of orange blossoms.

She carried a bouquet of white calla lilies tied with wide satin ribbon. The bridegroom was accompanied to the altar by the bride's brother, William Greene, of San Francisco, who acted as best man.

Following the marriage service, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jenkins, parents of the bridegroom, entertained at a reception at their home on North avenue, the guests limited to members of the bridal party, families and out-of-town guests.

The bride wore for traveling an ensemble of light and navy blue striped crepe with cuffs and collar of navy taffeta. Her hat of navy blue crepe was of the broad-brim type, and her outfit was completed with navy blue accessories.

Household Arts. By ALICE BROOKS.

GAY TOWELS. Pattern 5154.

Gay towels make a gay kitchen and, of course, is the way a kitchen should be today. These droll towels are interesting to do and are done in the simplest of embroidery, being mainly outline stitch. Make some for Post girl who is taking her hope chest seriously and see how pleased she'll be to add them to her collection. The design looks equally effective on plain or cross-hatched toweling. Buried could also be used on a breakfast set or other kitchen linens. These can be made of toweling which makes very crisp gay linens.

In pattern 5154 you will find a transfer pattern of six motifs averaging 5 1/2 inches; material requirements and illustrations of the stitches. To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred), to Household Arts Department, The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

G. M. A. Officials Predict Record Enrollment for Camp Highland Lake

HEALTH BUILDING, ACADEMIC WORK TO TOP PROGRAM

Splendid Facilities Provided at Mountain Camp for Sports, Crafts, Diversions and Study.

Everything is in readiness and registrations point to an auspicious season for Camp Highland Lake, at Hendersonville, N. C., which will open June 30 under the direction of the Georgia Military Academy. Officers of G. M. A. predict a record enrollment this year. The camp will continue eight weeks, closing August 25.

Camp Highland Lake, which, besides being one of America's most ideal locations for a summer camp, is also one of the most splendidly equipped camps for boys, serves as the Georgia Military Academy's summer school, is operated under the direct supervision of Colonel J. C. Woodward, founder and for 34 years president of G. M. A.

All sections of the country, including half the states in the Union, are expected to be represented among the boys registered for Camp Highland Lake's 1934 session, including many of the 63 cadets graduated last Wednesday from G. M. A.

While every facility is provided for academic work in high school and special subjects, this work is not required for camp attendance. Equally complete facilities are provided for the boys who prefer to spend the summer in physical rehabilitation and other camp activities.

A carefully selected faculty of more than 30 teachers, instructors, coaches and lecturers will be on hand throughout the camp session, guaranteeing to students and to vacationers alike the best instruction available in their choice of interests.

In the summer school section, physiology, physical geography, English and its allied subjects, mathematics in its various forms, history, spelling and languages will be taught. Typing, stenography, bookkeeping, accounting, public speaking, music and other subjects may be obtained upon demand.

For vacation campers, a wide choice of sports and diversions will be available, including woodcraft, scoutcraft, golf, tennis and all other athletic sports and games, hikes, canoeing and many others, all under the personal direction of experts.

Situated directly overlooking Highland Lake, the camp facilities include several large and handsome buildings for housing junior and intermediate campers and the staff members, also providing every facility for indoor diversions on rainy days. A number of rustic cabins are provided for the older campers and their coaches, each furnished to make in itself a "little home." Other camp facilities include a huge pavilion, the rustic gymnasium, buildings designed for studies and workshops, cottages for married teachers, an infirmary and other necessary structures.

In order that activities may be best supervised, campers will be divided into three divisions, juniors, intermediates and seniors, and each group will be housed separately, under the personal supervision of specially selected "mothers," counselors and other leaders.

Registration for Camp Highland Lake may be made by communicating with the Georgia Military Academy at College Park, and parents who contemplate sending their sons to camp, for summer academic work or for vacation, should do this immediately, as only a limited number of campers may be taken for the 1934 season.

Model Laundry Enters Its Sixteenth Year Riding Crest of Increasing Popularity

Riding the crest of a wave of steadily increasing popularity, the Model Laundry, at Houston and Jackson streets, today enters its sixteenth year of operation, having just concluded the fifteenth anniversary of its founding—marking a decade and a half of faithful and efficient service, constant expansion and proud achievement.

Under the personal direction of J. O. Mangum and George Griffin Jr., co-owners, the Model Laundry has won, during the past 15 years, an enviable position in its field and a laudable reputation for the excellence of its work, which includes not only laundering but dry cleaning and storage.

Organized in 1919 in small quarters at Houston street and Boulevard, the Model Laundry attained such popularity during the first five years of its existence that increased volume of business necessitated erection in 1924 of its present building—a splendid, large, modern equipped, well-ventilated daylight plant. Absolutely immaculate throughout, this plant is considered a model among laundries, and its staff of approximately 120 workers stands well above the average.

Thousands of Atlanta patrons have found Model Laundry service unexcelled. They have found that Model's widely diversified service, including wet wash, thrifty, rough dry, domestic and primrose, may be obtained at prices no higher than at other reputable laundries. Strict adherence to methods prescribed by the research department of the American Institute of Laundering insures the finest work obtainable—a fact which Atlanta's have found of inestimable importance.

The Model Laundry maintains a large fleet of trucks, manned by a corps of thoroughly trained and experienced routemen, which serves every section of the Greater Atlanta territory daily.

In commenting upon the Model's fifteenth anniversary during the past week, both Mr. Mangum and Mr. Griffin paid warm tribute to the loyalty of countless patrons it has served in the past, and pledged continued service of the highest standard.

HARVEY'S PATRONS FIND COOLED AIR AID TO APPETITES

Popular Downtown Restaurant Makes Specialty of Fresh Sea Food, Selected Meats.

Ever attentive not only to the appeasing of discriminating appetites but to the comfort of its patrons, Harvey's Restaurant, 98 Luckie street, N. W., has just installed and placed in operation an air conditioning and cooling system which provides an exhilarating and refreshing atmosphere at all times.

No matter what the street temperature may be during these distressing hot summer months, the air in Harvey's always will be many degrees lower. The new system supplies a complete change of air every quarter hour, refrigerated, washed and reconditioned, so that no matter how enervating the outside air may be, an atmosphere conducive to a zestful enjoyment of meals waits those who visit Harvey's.

For the last five years a popular dining place for patrons who enjoy the finest in foods, Harvey's Restaurant, owned by Sarkis "Sam" Dardarian, and under the management of L. D. Jenkins, has gained not only local but statewide recognition as a sea food restaurant. Fish, crabs, shrimp, lobsters—in fact everything edible that comes from the sea—are received absolutely fresh daily, prepared by experts and served to Harvey's patrons within a few hours after being taken from the sea.

Though specializing in sea foods, Harvey's also is widely known for its meats, all of which are personally selected daily by Mr. Dardarian from the choicest received here. Long an expert in meat selection, Mr. Dardarian demands the finest for his patrons, and uncounted thousands of Harvey's patrons will attest to his judgment.

Only fresh vegetables are used at Harvey's, and equal care is exercised in selecting them either direct from the farms or from the produce reaching Atlanta daily.

Harvey's chef, whose deft touch and finely discerning skill in cookery are responsible for much of this restaurant's fast-growing popularity, is one of the foremost in his profession in America, having served in the Buffalo State, the Atlanta-Baltimore and many other equally prominent hotels.

Harvey's Restaurant, open 24 hours a day, offers a combined seating capacity of approximately 150 in its main dining room, at its counter, on the modernistic mezzanine and in its taproom. Its menu offers an endless variety, and its range of prices, among the most reasonable in the city, will fit any purse, whether the patron dashes in for coffee and doughnuts or a 25 cent vegetable plate, or whether he dines more leisurely at Harvey's popular "chef's special" dinner. Unfailingly attentive, courteous and efficient service is the rule.

Harvey's tap room, by the way, may be entered directly through the restaurant or by an entrance on Fairlie street, just one door from Luckie. The main dining room of Harvey's, in keeping with its major cuisine

C. P. Goree Jr. Interprets Housing Bill's Provisions

Director of Fulton County Federal Savings, Loan Association Lauds Benefits of Program.

C. P. Goree Jr., director of the Fulton County Federal Savings & Loan Association, interpreting the operation of the administration's new housing program as set out in proposed legislation now before congress, sees in the projected statute the opening of a new field for the investing public, offering absolute safety and a fair return for the investor.

"The most far reaching part of the program," Mr. Goree asserts, "is that which guarantees the accounts of individuals in such institutions as the Fulton County Federal, up to the amount of $2,500. Not only does this open a new investment field, but provides for a fair return on invested money."

"The result will extend far beyond the protection to the investor. It will mean a building up of community financing of its home mortgages, and will provide more local money for home mortgages, which can have but one result—a lower rate of interest to the borrower."

The second important phase of the proposed legislation, Mr. Goree points out, is that providing for loans to home owners for alterations, repairs and improvements. Thus the individual who has had to forego proper upkeep of his home will be able to borrow the necessary money at a fair rate of interest. Individual loans would be limited to $2,000, which would be insured up to 20 per cent under the proposed Home Credit Insurance Corporation. Provision also is made for this corporation to make loans to institutions on the security of obligations representing loans made and insured.

Mr. Goree states the Fulton County Federal, being a member of the Federal Home Loan Bank system, could be advanced the money to make these loans by the Federal Home Loan Bank. A further provision for insuring mortgages by the Home Credit Insurance Corporation is sought to the end that, to encourage the building of new homes, mortgages may be insured that represent up to 80 per cent of the value of the property if built after the passage of the act, or up to theme, is handsomely decorated with natural marine paintings, executed by one of the foremost marine artists in the country, depicting undersea life. The mezzanine, perhaps unique in the city, is beautifully decorated in modernistic motif by P. Thornton Mayre, and is a masterpiece of its kind.

60 per cent of the value of existing homes. Under such provision, an individual, Mr. Goree pointed out, could build his home and pay for it with a series of monthly payments and have no more than 20 per cent of the cost in hand.

After explaining the various parts of the proposed legislation and its application as he sees it, Mr. Goree declared that for the long time benefit he is convinced that the principle of community financing must be developed.

"It is upon this principle," he asserts, "that the great system of building and loan associations was built, now representing $7,750,000,000 on investments, which carried its investors through the last four years of depressed real estate values with a maximum loss in any one year representing only 28-100 of one per cent of the money invested."

The Fulton County Federal Savings & Loan Association, one of these institutions, is located at 109 Hurt building, where Mr. Goree invites any person interested in a safe investment or in building or improving a home to call for consultation on home loan problems.

ROTHSCHILD & CO. BUILDS BUSINESS UPON WIPING RAGS

Local Concern Also Reports Growing Demand for Polishing Cloths, Other Materials.

Wiping rags and polishing cloths, seldom considered as commodities until recent years, have won that distinction and a measure of real character under the guiding genius of Emil Rothschild, manager of Rothschild & Company, 329 Decatur street, Southeast.

Through a careful study of business and industrial needs for these important but hitherto neglected commodities, "The House of Rothschild," as the concern is known locally, has developed the sale of wiping rags and polishing cloths into a worthwhile business.

The company specializes in white and colored mulling mists and towel ends. Its connection with large mills in the southeast enables it to carry in stock at all times a complete line of superior quality wiping rags and polishing cloths. It also handles reclaimed domestic rags, and with these special items has created a widespread demand by the users.

Every piece of material passing through the Rothschild & Company plant here is guaranteed to be thoroughly washed and sterilized. Its products are put up in convenient sanitary cartons and bales for prompt delivery.

Rothschild & Company wiping rags and polishing cloths are in wide use here, especially in shops, factories, printing plants, garages, filling stations, office buildings, hotels—in fact everywhere these handy cloths are necessary.

TARZAN AND THE CITY OF GOLD No. 61

"Nemone is capricious," Gernon warned Tarzan as they reached the palace. "She is always bored and seeking relief from her boredom. Oftentimes she finds strange avenues of escape that make one wonder if her mind—but no! That may not even be whispered."

Tarzan was immediately admitted to the ivory room where he found Nemone and her favorite courtier, Erot, much as he had found them the previous night. The Queen greeted him with an eager smile, but Erot only scowled darkly, making no effort to conceal his hatred.

"We are having a diversion this morning," Nemone explained, "and we summoned you and Gernon to enjoy it with us. Yesterday, my raiding warriors captured an Athenian noble; we are going to have some sport with him." Tarzan did not understand what she meant.

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Nor was he particularly interested. He was thinking of the old hag, M'duse, and the night before, wondering what was in the mind of this strange, fascinating woman before him. "Go and tell them we are ready," she directed Erot, "and ascertain if all is in readiness."
